Since the introduction of the full size 190mm housing in 2012, the Bull Shooter line has fully demonstrated its tremendous catching capabilities and can be used on a wide variety of fields, from big fields to small fields. With its compact and easy-to-handle 100mm body, the Tiny Bull Shooter can be used as a match bait in weedbeds and shallow areas where baby gills are present, or as a follow-on bait for selective bass that will respond to a full-size bait but won't chase. It can also be used as a follow-on bait for selective perch that respond to full size bait but only hunt. The lure's flat, jointed body creates a powerful undulation that is responsive even when retrieved straight. The lure has a great attraction.
