High quality, braided fishing line from Japan, which has an extremely high stability and smoothness thanks to the WX method. This makes it possible to produce extremely tear-resistant lines with a very high load capacity in relation to the strength.

Due to its fineness, the G-Soul X8 Upgrade is the ideal line for light game fishing, because even with very light baits such as spoons or mini lures, it passes on even the slightest pluck to the rod and thus enables the angler to immediately respond.

The Japanese unit PE indicates the average diameter of a fishing line with which the filling quantity for the spool can be determined.
