The new Tatula SV TW now also offers the SV concept (Stress Free Versatile) and can be applied for lures from 5gr on up to 80gr and above. Thanks to the SV concept line twists at casting are drastically reduced and both lightweight and heavy lures equally can be cast with this reel. The SV spool is extremely lightweight and features almost no starting resistance, thus increasing casting accuracy especially at smaller lures, where you now don't have to exert power casts any more. Additionally you don't have to control the spool by thumb during the cast at all, since the SV concept prevents overruns during the cast. You simply have to stop the spool with your thumb when the lure reaches the water. Thanks to the SV concept the centrifugal drag can be adjusted to a more relaxed state, which results in a smoother running of the spool and increased casting distances. Also the further equipment is extraordinary for a baitcast reel within this price segment and convinces with many more elaborate details. For example the gearing is hardly detectable during retrieving thanks to the Air Rotation system. The Tatula SV TW is available in two versions with different transmission.
