The main feature of the last Levante 2019 series is the extreme lightness of the carbon blank. The total restyling was based on the innovative technology of Megabass, who used a construction process with high pressure compressed layers in graphite, managing to create a carbon blank with a very thin, light and resistant stem up to the extreme limit. In fact, the weights of the rods have a range of just 90g for the lightest and only 136g for the most powerful rod.
