The A-Tec Crazee Perch Game is a perch rod designed specifically for the European market, based on the S822M Aori Stick. However, in this part of the world is less fished for squid, but more on local predators such as perch, zander and pike, the design of the Aori was slightly modified and equipped with Fuji O guides. The design in classic black and the abandonment of applications is also new.

Technically, the Crazee Perch Game features a carbon fiber blank and a light weight of just 115g, while the casting weight is 7-24g (max 30g), which allows you to fish a variety of jigs, rigs and lures. The blank promises decent power reserves in the fight with strong, persistent predators.
