Floating lure with an angled diving blade that dips just below the surface on the retrieve, a two-piece flat body and that unmistakable click sound. The new model also features a soft rubber fishing tail that displaces more water during linear retrieves and continues to work during pauses. This extra movement is enough to trigger takes from wary fish. In 'walk the dog' style, the Blast Bone does not deviate too far from its normal running path. Ideal when casting to specific targets such as sunken trees or weed corridors. This lure will be popular with pike and black bass anglers. For added versatility, you can add a John-Weight weight to create a floating or slow-sinking lure. The possibilities are endless!
