Anglers know the name and look of the Nile Master Invincible around the world. The inimitable swimming movements and effective color combinations of the wobbler are the secret of his catchiness. The Invincible has been one of the most successful artificial lures ever since the 1960s. In Finland, the Invincible continues to capture the largest pike every year. The smaller Invincibles are ideal for fishing for trout in rapids or for trolling for rainbow trout from the rowing boat.

The medium-sized Invincibles are well suited for trolling on zander. The bait works at many different trolling speeds. Be sure to use even bigger Invincibles - a larger bait often stimulates bite readiness, whether it's a smaller or a larger zander.

In the size 8 cm of the Invincible balsa wood is used as building material. In the size classes 12, 15, 18, 20 and 25 cm, the body is made of apache wood.
