The top spoon for catching salmonids.

The Scanna has the advantage over other spoons of its size, that it has a much thinner blade, which makes it much more attractive for salmonids such as trouts, sea trouts, huchen, vendaces and salmons, of course. But also pikes, catfish and zander couldn't stay away from the Scanna in the extensive tests on the rivers of Northwest Russia.

Just like all spoons from Trout Bait, also the Scanna is made of a brass alloy, which gives it a special, catchy sound that for example steel spoons, can't imitate.

Brass does not rust and, like the used colors, is resistant to corrosion, which makes these spoons ideal for salt and fresh water.

The extremely robust hooks are chemically sharpened.

- Handmade in the EU.
